

KING GEORGE NOT AWARE OF REGENCY MOVE—BUT IT IS BELIEVED HE WILL REALIZE NECESSITY OF TAKING SAFEGUARDS

London, March 11.—(By Thos. Champion, London Manager of the C. P.)—While the probability of appointment of the Prince of Wales as regent is widely discussed in today's newspapers, the most to be said at the moment is that the government is undoubtedly considering the expediency of submitting a regency bill before the dissolution of parliament.

It is hardly likely the king himself has been approached on the subject to date, for his majesty since his removal to Bognor has not yet received Premier Stanley Baldwin. But it may also be assumed with confidence that to the king as much as to his ministers, the necessity of taking every safeguard for eventualities in regard to the constitutional position is apparent.

General Election Dilemma
A general election might easily create a political situation in which the king would have to play an important personal part.

It is also obvious there were many other matters which might arise and with which the present council of state could not act fully in his majesty's place.

Several weeks ago the king's doctors issued a statement emphasizing that his majesty's complete recovery must be a matter of time. This pronouncement is now looked back upon as being in the nature of preparing public opinion for a possible change in the manner of fulfilling the highest office in the realm.

BRITISH RACE DRIVER BREAKS RECORD, GOING 231.3 MILES AN HOUR

Daytona Beach, Fla., Mar. 11.—Major H. O. D. Segrave, British sportsman, pushed his Golden Arrow racer up to 231.324 miles an hour here today in setting his assault on the world's auto speed record over a measured course.

His time for the northward run was 15.15 seconds. A second run southward was necessary to establish an average for record speed. He took a four-mile start before entering the mile stretch and flashed by the grandstand with a terrific roar.

At the north end of the course the British driver stopped for several minutes to replenish the ice supply in his cooling system and to change all four wheels and tires.

Wife Covers Eyes
Hugging the outskirts of the course, Major Segrave ran through several low places on the beach where water had collected from the receding tide, but it did not interfere with his driving. Mrs. Segrave, who sat in the grandstand, covered her eyes with her hands. She did not look up until her husband was reported safe at the end of the race.

Segrave was travelling so fast that photographers stationed on the beach found it almost impossible to follow him with their eyes. To the spectators in the grandstands, high on the sand dunes, however, his visibility was much clearer and his run could be witnessed clearly.

His speed was well surpassed in the present two-way record of 297 miles an hour, but also exceeded the record of 214 miles for a one-way run set by Malcolm Campbell of England.

LIGHT DOCKET AT SUPREME COURT (CRIMINAL) SITTINGS

Sittings of the Supreme Court (Criminal) of Alberta for the Macleod Judicial District opened at the Court House Macleod Monday morning, with His Honor Justice W. C. Ives on the Bench.

There was a very light docket, only two cases being down for hearing, and no jury was called, both cases being tried by the Judge.

The first case was one for uttering false documents, Rex vs. Alex Wilson. The case of a young man about 20 years of age who pleaded guilty to the charge and the Judge in consideration of the accused having been in jail since December 10th, admonished him to give up such practices in the future and imposed a goal sentence of two months, dating from Dec. 10th, 1928.

J. D. Matheson, K. C., Crown Prosecutor for the crown and J. W. McDonald, K. C., solicitor for the accused.

The second case was Rex vs. Jake Freiburger of the Claresholm district. This man was accused of "fraudulently taking an estray cow." Quite a number of witnesses were called both for the crown and the defence, and after hearing all the evidence and the addresses of Counsel His Lordship found the accused guilty and fined him $100.

J. D. Matheson, K. C. for the crown, and W. S. Beattie, barrister, Lethbridge, for the defendant.

BETTER MEDICAL SERVICE FOR CANADIANS

Whether or not the medical profession of Canada are capable of bringing to the people of Canada a high standard of medical practice is the Turner Valley field goes far beyond any carbon black plant and there comes a time when our own lives or those of our loved ones are literally placed in the hands of one member of the medical profession. Day by day, we are dependent upon the profession for protection from disease.

Our Canadian universities provide for the education of these entering into the profession, and it can be said with confidence that no country possesses better medical schools than does Canada.

Medical education is not completed with the obtaining of a degree and a license to practise. The physician must remain a student for his whole lifetime. Otherwise, he is not able to bring to his patients the newer discoveries that are being made. The public are only aware of advances in medicine when the advance is something spectacular or novel. Medicine is progressing rapidly and there are, we might say, daily advances in methods of diagnosis and treatment with which the physician should be familiar.

To a considerable extent, this need is met through the medical journals. There are no secrets in the medical profession; when any discovery is made, or a piece of work brought to a successful issue, it is reported in the journals, and so, new information is made available to the whole profession.

There is, as everyone appreciates, a limit to the value of the printed article. Mostly everyone will have experienced the desire to talk and discuss an article with his writer, because of the feeling that even a few minutes' conversation would make the whole matter more clear.

In order to further the desirable end of keeping the practising profession abreast of the times, and in order to aid the individual members of the profession in their effort to do this, the Canadian Medical Association has carried on Post-Graduate educational work. The merit of their plan is that instead of attempting to bring the busy practitioner into a large centre for this post-graduate work, it is taken to him by the Association.

This is done by sending out, all over the country, wherever a small or large group of medical men may come together, several speakers who generally travel as a team and who have been selected by the local group as the ones whom they desire to hear, and with whom they wish to discuss some phase of medicine.

This work has grown because the profession have found it to be most helpful. Every province is covered and, last year, a total of 502 addresses were given by 329 speakers, the attendance of physicians at these meetings having been 25,423.

It is evident that this service is in demand. It is evident that it is reaching the profession and securing results. As stated, this is of public and personal interest because what ever assists in raising the standard of medical practice and in promoting a greater knowledge of preventive medicine, thus ensuring modern, adequate, medical care, is of public and personal interest.

The carrying-on of such work requires money. The necessary funds in this case have been supplied to the Canadian Medical Association by the Sun Life Assurance Company. During the past three years, this great Canadian institution has set aside $300,000 for this purpose. We cannot imagine a more effective means of bringing about results which will abound to the benefit of the Canadian people than this service, which is contributing so definitely towards securing modern medical care for the population. In this, the Sun Life Assurance Company may have reason to feel that they are doing something worthy of their own greatness.

DIPHTHERIA IS PREVENTABLE

On two occasions recently spectacular flights in an aeroplane have been made, to carry precious Anti-Toxin to Diphtheria patients. On the first one, two brave men risked their lives and all that death to them would mean to their families, to carry the life-giving cargo to the far North. On the second, a nurse and Anti-Toxin were taken to a stricken family, only some sixty miles from Edmonton.

The story of the far north is well known now, and needs no recapitulation. The story of the farm home near Westlock is raw tragedy. A winter storm, drifted roads, a whole family stricken with Diphtheria. The mother and one child dead, and only a chance visit from a neighbour reveals the terrible story. The telephone, a doctor, and an aeroplane, a nurse, Anti-Toxin, and the other members of the family are saved. YET DIPHTHERIA IS PREVENTABLE.

Every home can be freed from the menace of this dread disease. Immunize every child. It is a simple thing to have done. Any Physician can do it. It entails no hardship nor pain. Surely it is a small price to pay for immunity from such a tragedy as struck that once happy home at this time. Lead the way in making the art of living a little safer for our children—IMMUNIZE AGAINST DIPHTHERIA.

HUGE BRITISH CHEMICAL CONCERN MAY UTILIZE WASTE TURNER VALLEY GAS

Edmonton, March 6.—That the proposed undertaking of large British capital in utilizing waste gas in the Turner Valley field goes far beyond any carbon black plant and involves one of the biggest organizations in Great Britain, was the statement made by Premier J. E. Brownlee in the Legislature Tuesday evening in reply to the suggestion that the firm which Hon. Herbert Greenfield has interested in this project was another carbon black plant.

The proposal is to break into its constituent parts the waste gas in the Turner Valley field, and from that to engage in certain chemical manufacturing processes, said the premier.

Whether or not the firm will undertake this cannot yet be said, but the entire resource of the university chemical and research departments have been placed at its disposal by the government for research purposes, said the premier.

INCOME TAX INFORMATION

Once again, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, is using newspaper advertising to assist taxpayers in complying with the requirements of the Dominion Income Tax Act.

In this issue an advertisement appears reminding the public of the law which stipulates that certain information must be in the offices of the Income Tax Inspectors by March 31 next. This information is required from employers, corporations, and trustees or persons acting in a fiduciary capacity. It applies to year ending December 31, 1928.

For instance, employers have to file a return giving the amounts paid and received in salaries, bonuses, commissions, and fees where the amount was $1,000 or more, or where the salary or wages was at a rate of $1,500 or more. Corporations have to file the names of those who were paid dividends, whether in cash or stock, and the amount of each. Persons acting in a fiduciary capacity, such as assignees, executors, administrators, receivers, trustees are required to file details of the trust they represent, together with the names of and amounts paid to beneficiaries.

Those mentioned in the act as having to produce this information are asked to secure the proper forms from the nearest Income Tax

HONOURABLE W. D. EULER
Minister of National Revenue

Office, fill in their forms according to instructions, and mail them to the Income Tax Inspectors at the offices before March 31. These forms are known as T1 for persons acting in a fiduciary capacity; T4 for employers and T5 for corporations. Each form contains complete instructions about what the law requires. These are information forms only, and no cheques are sent with them.

Officials of the Department fully appreciate the trouble required in making out these forms, but are doing everything in their power to facilitate matters by reminding the public in plenty of time respecting the demands of the law.

The total collections under the Income Tax Act for last year are some millions of dollars ahead of the year before, in spite of a ten per cent reduction in the tax. Mr. Euler attributed this increased collection to three things:

1. More efficient methods of collection.
2. The increased prosperity of the country.
3. Advertising.

CAPITAL GOSSIP AND PROVINCIAL NEWS

Per Capita Wealth High in Alberta

Alberta stands second among the provinces of the Dominion in its per capita national wealth, being exceeded in this respect only by British Columbia, according to figures just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. As regards the provincial distribution of wealth, Ontario ranks first with an estimated agricultural wealth of $9,130,180,000 and Quebec second with an estimated wealth of $6,635,108,000. The western provinces, however, lead in per capita wealth. British Columbia holds first place with a per capita wealth of $3,844; Alberta second with $3,698; Saskatchewan third with $3,559, and Manitoba fourth with $2,557. These figures may be compared with $2,902 for Ontario; $2,508 for Quebec, and $2,842 the per capita wealth for the whole Dominion.

Edmonton-Grande Prairie Linked by Air Service

Transportation from Edmonton to Grande Prairie has become a matter of a few hours with the inauguration during the past week of a commercial air service between these two points by the Commercial Airways Limited. The first flight of the service was made on Thursday by Captain "Wop" May flying the Commercial Airways' new Lockheed Vega plane. Leaving Edmonton at 9:05 a. m. Captain May and his passengers had lunch in Grande Prairie, reached Edmonton on the return flight at 5:15 p. m.

Oil Refineries Busy in February
Increased oil production in the Turner Valley field is indicated by the amounts of naphtha and crude oil delivered to the Imperial Oil Refineries and the Royal Refinery in Calgary during the month of February. The former received 428 barrels of crude naphtha and 12,742 barrels of crude oil while 6,318 barrels were delivered to the Royal plant. This volume represents an increase of nearly 3,000 barrels over the deliveries during the previous month.

Interest Shown in Better Seed

Farmers throughout the province and organizations interested in the improvement of agricultural conditions are taking a keen interest in the campaign directed by the Department of Agriculture to encourage the use of high quality seed grain for Alberta's 1929 crop.

A number of radio addresses will be given from Edmonton, Red Deer, Calgary and Lethbridge during the coming week while 10,000 posters and 50,000 leaflets are being distributed to farmers in all sections of the province. A marked improvement was noted in the quality of seed sown in 1928 and it is expected that further improvement will be still further increased as a result of the attention which is being paid to this important factor in crop production at the present time.

Four New School Districts Established

The establishment of four new rural school districts in the province is announced in the last issue of the Alberta Gazette. These are named respectively Fairview, Gould, Landscape and Eagle Point. A number of other school districts plan the erection of new schools or additions to their present buildings during the coming year.

Cassell Hill and Mann Lake are declared for purposes of the School Assessment Act to be village districts.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION — RURAL HEALTH UNITS

Up until the present time, the knowledge which we possess concerning the prevention of disease has been applied in cities much more than it has been in the small town and rural areas. Practically all cities of any importance have organized health departments, with trained workers in charge of the various activities carried on by the Department.

The small town and rural areas, as a result of the lack of health work, are, in general, not as healthy as the cities. In other words, those who live in the cities are more free from preventable diseases, because the cities have organized health departments which protect the citizens from preventable diseases. It has been the hope of those who have given thought to this problem of rural health, that some scheme might be devised whereby those living outside the cities would receive the same measure of protection from disease as those living in the cities.

The County or Rural Health Unit seems to offer a practical means for obtaining this most desirable end. The idea is to organize, in a county or some similar area, a health department which would be staffed by full-time trained workers. That is, the county would be served in a health way by a health organization similar to that which has done so much good in the cities.

By combining the rural areas and the small towns, there is a sufficient population to support such a service. The health workers in such a unit must be trained and must devote their whole time to this health work.

The plan is well started in some provinces. It is becoming practical for those living outside the cities to secure organized health protection. They must realize what it means, however, and must be willing, as have been the city dwellers, to pay the cost. It costs more to keep well, but it costs far less to keep well than to be ill.

Questions, concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

CORRESPONDENCE

Seemly discussion of matters of public interest is invited under the above heading. As an earnest of good faith and to insure publication, all communications to the editor must be signed by the contributor (non de plume signature for publication if so desired). The editor of The Times is not responsible for opinions expressed or statements made under above heading; neither does he necessarily endorse or condemn such opinions or statements.

To the Editor of The Macleod Times:

Dear Sir:
Several articles on evolution have appeared in your paper, and it would interest some of your readers, if the author of these, or any other evolutionist, would inform us at what period in the history of the earth, the law "reproduce after its kind" came into force. Anyone can see the law in operation if he walks into the garden, and watches the different plants and makes a list of their kind under the same environment, or goes into the barnyard and sees the different fowls and animals each mating with their own kind; or visits the forest and observes the wild creatures and numerous insects all obeying the same law; or watches the birds in the trees, every species selecting its mate after its kind. It is the certainty and unchangeableness of this law that makes gardening, agriculture, and stock raising possible. Side by side with this law we see another, that only a mature plant or animal, with the reproductive organs perfect can increase.

Evolution is a theory to explain on a materialistic basis, the appearance of the numerous species of plants, birds, insects and animals found on the earth. Broadly speaking it teaches, that organic life began in the far distant past in the lowest form of life, from a substance to which the name of protoplasm has been given; described as granular, slimy, and colorless. From this substance, by a force inherent in matter, all the living things were gradually evolved in an ascending scale, either by natural selection, blending of species, appearance of off shots, environment, etc. The lower forms of life making the higher. Such a process ignores the laws we see operating at present upon the lowest form of life to the highest.

There is another explanation of the world we live in. That all matter inorganic or organic came into existence by an act of creation through long periods of time, which for convenience is called creative days. That creation was progressive, and from the earliest forms of life, matter was subject to the definite law "produce after its kind." In this explanation we see design and the adaptability of the different species to their environment. One wonders why only those who accept the theory of evolution (evidently not now in operation) are considered wise and scientific, while those who accept the other explanation are classed ignorant and superstitious.

Wonderful experiments have been made by men like Mendel Weismann and others, in producing different varieties in plants and animals, but always varieties of the same species and great varieties of peas, but they are still peas not beans. Cactus made spineless and edible but it is still cactus. Man has discovered and recorded the forces at work in the organs of plants while varieties are forming but has invented no new force. When man tries to blend dif-

MACLEOD AND DISTRICT BOARD OF TRADE IS LIVE WIRE ORGANIZATION — A GREAT ADJUNCT TOWARD LOCAL PROGRESS—MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTS MONDAY, MARCH 18th—EVERY ONE HAS THE PRIVILEGE OF MEMBERSHIP—JOIN UP AND BOOST FOR A GREATER MACLEOD AND A MORE PROSPEROUS DISTRICT

Macleod and District Board of Trade has during the past few years, and especially during 1928, more than justified its existence. It has been active toward Macleod's betterment on every possible occasion and during 1928 made a record in accomplishment, as well as initiating efforts toward certain ends that are believed to be in process of evolution to eventuate in Macleod and district's greater welfare.

Back the Board of Trade

Read this from the Regina Star: "The city council of Regina ought to reprimand the Board of Trade for its modesty in only asking a grant of $15,000, by voting them twice that amount and insisting that they spend it."

"Hoarding is not economy. Economy is spending money wisely. Any Board of Trade that can accomplish what the City Council of Regina has accomplished, and that has the big field of opportunity that faces the 1929 Regina Board of Trade, is worth spending money with. It is a good investment and will meet with popular approval."

"Greater Vancouver last year spent $55,000 on its publicity bureau. It cost $53,000,000 in tourist revenue in return. The Vancouver city council contributed $25,000; the provincial government another $25,000 and shrewd but grateful business men contributed the rest. In addition Vancouver subscribed to a joint fund of $40,000 to advertise the Puget Sound cities and their attractions in distant parts of the continent."

"And if encouragement nearer home is needed, it can be got from the fine public spirit of the people in Saskatoon, whose city council is considering a grant of $25,000 to the Saskatoon Board of Trade."

Big Field For Board of Trade

Effort in 1929:
With four graded highways—north, south, east and west—converging on Macleod (and these are well advertised) this place should be the best tourist town in Alberta and 1929 will doubtless be the first of many years in which Macleod will reap great rewards from tourist traffic if intelligent efforts are made in catering to this business—the first step toward which should be an improved tourist camp-room and with all necessary conveniences. The Board of Trade will doubtless attend to this properly if they are not handicapped by lack of funds and moral support. Get behind the Macleod Board of Trade—boost it by your membership, and be a real help toward a "Bigger and Better Macleod" and a more prosperous district. Remember—The rising sun of substantial prosperity already gilds the clouds of our adversity, and the shining morning of realized hope is at hand—boost the Board of Trade, a drive for membership starts Monday, March 18th. Fees for individuals are $2.00—for business men and firms $5.00.

Membership Teams are: F. B. Frey and Neville Kirk; O. J. Wood and T. B. Armstrong; James Young and Arthur Young; H. McIntosh and E. V. Grier.

ferent species and produce a new one, a mule is the result, the reproductive organs are lacking. The farmer can sow wheat of whatever variety he chooses, certain that the seed will be wheat, without any of the special characteristics of other grains. Each species seems incapable of absorbing characteristics of other species.

Professor Henry Drummond points out that in the 3 great divisions of nature, inorganic or mineral, plants, and moving creatures, the lower order is incapable of teaching or absorbing the higher order. Plants stoop down and absorb minerals; animals stoop and appropriate plants. From this he argues that man, the highest form of animal, who alone has a spiritual sense, can only come into touch with Spirit by Spirit stooping down and touching him. It seems that mankind is the capacity to receive or reject the touch of The Great Spirit called God.

GETTING STARTED WITH PACKAGE BEES

If package bees are expected to become producers the first season, they should be obtained as soon as possible after the third week of April. Before the bees are expected to arrive, arrangements should be made with the nearest custom's official and express agent for the immediate release and delivery of the bees when they do arrive. It is also important that all equipment necessary for the hiving of the bees, be ready to receive them. When the bees are received, smear the screening of the package with thin sugar syrup or water and then stand them in a cool shady place until evening. When ready to release the bees, take the packages to the apiary and stand them alongside the hives they are to occupy. Each hive should contain five or six drawn combs or full sheets of foundation. Now remove the feeder can from the first package and then take out the small queen cage, remove the covering from the candy hole of this cage and make a small opening through the candy to the compartment containing the queen and her attendants. Hang the queen cage between the frames in the hive and shake a few bees from the package onto the frames. Now place the package upside down in the hive alongside the frames, resting one end of the package on a small block of wood so the bees may escape from it easily. Cover the hive and reduce its entrance

RAILWAY SERVICE AND RAILWAY PROFITS

Railway experience of the past five years has shown conclusively that Mackenzie King's policy of making the freight rate structure subservient to the service of the public has not only increased the prosperity of the Dominion, but also the prosperity of the railways.

In 1903 the Board of Railway Commissioners was created and given jurisdiction, subject to the appellate control of the Governor-in-Council, over rates and railway service in the Dominion. Under the decisions of that body, the principle became established that a reasonable freight rate was a rate that gave to the railway company its cost of operation and a sufficient surplus to provide dividends and reserves.

Until the collapse of a large section of the Canadian railway system after the war, this principle appeared to be workable. But when that collapse occurred, its fallacy became evident and it became necessary for the Governor-in-Council to supplement the decisions of the Railway Commission with orders-in-council designed to meet the extraordinary situation existing at that time.

The outcome of these orders-in-council was that the Government established a policy that changed the formula by which the reasonableness of rates was fixed. The new policy was, briefly, that Canadian railways have as their primary object the creation of Canadian progress and Canadian trade, and as their secondary object the production of profits.

Such was the policy laid down by the order-in-council passed June 5, 1928 and upon which new appeals for the abolition of the mountain differential and the equalization of rates have been based.

And this is the policy that has established Mackenzie King as a nation builder, and has enabled him and his advisors in seven years to translate the Canadian National from a group of railways aggregating an annual deficit of $50,000,000 in 1921 to a high class system showing a profit of more than $60,000,000 in 1928.

The substantiality of Mackenzie King's railway policy is obvious in the case of nationally owned roads. Its substantiality in the case of privately owned roads is indicated in the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's stock increased from $136.59 in 1925 to as high as $260.00 in 1928.

There is no substitute for service. There is no excuse, economic or geographical, for the unequal rates and differentials that prevent the fullest rendering of the fullest railway service.

HALEY FISKE, HEALTH CRUSADER

The death of Haley Fiske, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, removes the man who definitely liked health with advertising.

As an apostle of longevity, Mr. Fiske studied health mechanics. As president of a life insurance company whose profits depend upon the health of the masses, he set out to sell health to the public. He made it the business of his company and, by example, the business of other life insurance companies, to instruct the people of North America in the art of keeping well.

Mr. Fiske's activities along this line were of tremendous importance, not because of the lives saved by life insurance advertising, but because his policy made health publicity respectable.

In short, he was instrumental in breaking down, to some extent, the wall of "ethics" and mystery that for centuries has stood between health facts and the masses. He forced attention upon the fact that it is fully as important to get health knowledge to the public as it is to discover new health knowledge.

Mr. Fiske's work tended to liberalize medicine. He made publicity a vital factor in health.

A QUESTION FOR MILLIONAIRES

Wealthy men who give away millions customarily do so for the benefit of hospitals, universities, research work or religion. All these are worthy of support—but wouldn't a rich man sometimes do more good by giving away millions for some public improvement?

Instead of endowing a laboratory to the tune of ten millions, why doesn't some millionaire endow a needed highway, or a mountain tunnel, or a civic centre for a city? Projects like these would give work to many men; they would automatically solve some national problems.

Yale is about to spend $7,500,000 to "study human behavior." Surely the money could be better spent in construction of needed public improvements which the tax-ridden public shrinks from financing.

The way to begin an illustrious family tree is to use the apple sput as our fathers did.

BETTER YIELDS — BETTER GRADES — BETTER PRICES

A special committee appointed by the Minister of Agriculture, with the co-operation of numerous organizations in the province, is urging the use this spring by farmers throughout the province of

Farmers can co-operate by:

3. Having seed tested for germination and purity.
4. Treating seed for smut.
5. Thoroughly cleaning all grain intended for seed.
6. Seeding only varieties of recognized quality and varieties suitable to the district.

Good seed will be in demand this spring. Secure your requirements early—before the supply is exhausted.

GLORIA SWANSON IN "SADIE THOMPSON" BASED ON MAUGHAM CLASSIC, COMING TO EMPRESS THEATRE

Gloria Swanson's second independent production, "Sadie Thompson," will be the feature film at the Empress Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
Lionel Barrymore appears in the film as Alfred Atkinson, a self-appointed and officious reformer. Dr. and Mrs. McPhail are played, respectively, by Charles Lane and Florence Midgley. James Marcus Will Stanton and Sophia Artega are also in the cast.

"Sadie Thompson" is the narrative of an intolerant individual's insistent projection of his dominant personality into the pitifully weak and feminine existence of an out-cast girl who is trying to "live and let live." Maugham's classic is a drama of tolerance, a colorful, romantic, thrilling story of human souls in conflict. Greatest of all Maugham's literary creations is "Miss Thompson" the gaudily dressed lady who flaunts a parasol and tilts a high-hat feather at a Marine as readily as she flares into stinging resentment at self-appointed intruders into lives of others. Gloria Swanson has said that she likes "Sadie Thompson" better than any other one of her screen characterizations; that she was happiest in acting the part. Hence, film-goers who attend the Empress Theatre will be seeing on the screen Gloria Swanson's favorite screen character and W. Somerset Maugham's greatest literary character.

Humor, witful and sardonic; tender, sudden and bitter; soul-struggle, exhausting and killing; love, sacred and profane; these are the essence of Gloria Swanson's film, "Sadie Thompson," just as they were the soul and body of Maugham's classic story.

THRILLS AND HILARITY IN "TAXI 13" CHESTER CONKLIN COMING TO EMPRESS

Thrills—the real, breath-taking sort that keep you on the edge of your theatre seat—interspersed with hilarious comedy that makes you sink back against the cushion while you wipe tears of laughter from your eyes—suspense that holds the interest taut and induces you to really care what is going to happen next to the characters in the photoplay.

These are the elements, it is universally admitted, that make for success in a screen presentation and it is these that have been cleverly woven together by the masterly direction of Marshall Neilan into the FBO comedy drama, "Taxi 13," attraction coming to the Empress Theatre for one day, Wednesday 20th.

With Chester Conklin, leading film comedian of the day, in the featured role of Angus MacLactavish, a bowwheaten taxi driver with eleven children and a yearning for a new taxicab that leads him into under-

Seed Time Again

As in the past, we shall be headquarters in Macleod for seeds this season. More farmers every year are growing their own seed requirements from small fields of registered seed. Try a plot of registered wheat of some good variety this spring and note the returns.

For a permanent pasture try a mixture of Brome and Yellow Blossom Sweet Clover with Oats as a nurse crop. For a temporary pasture to be broken up again in a couple of years use Western Eye Grass instead of the Brome. For a green manure crop to be plowed down next year as summer fallow sow 8 or 10 lbs. of White Blossom Sweet Clover seed with your wheat this year.

While we have in stock right now over 4 tons of Sweet Clover seed we like to have a few days' notice of your requirements in other seeds, many of which we may be temporarily out of. We can usually save you all the freight on such orders.

We try to have fresh supplies of bacteria culture for Sweet Clover and Alfalfa seed on hand at all times during the season.

Let us have your orders.
